GENERAL ORDERS }
No. 9.

Before a General Court Martial, which convened at Fort Pillow, Tenn., on the 26th day of July, 1861, and of which Col. R. P. NEELY, Tennessee Volunteers, was President, was tried:

FIRST.

First Lieutenant M. M. MERITT, of the 4th Regiment, Tennessee Volunteers.

Charge 1st.—Drunk on duty.

Charge 2nd.—Conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline.

FINDING.

The Court, after due deliberation, find the accused, First Lieutenant M. M. MERITT, as follows:

Of the 1st Charge.—Not Guilty.

Of the 2nd Charge.—Guilty.

And do sentence him "to be suspended from rank and pay for two weeks."

SECOND.

Private T. B. HADLEY, Company B, 4th Regiment, Tennessee Volunteers.

Charge 1st.—Striking his superior officer.

Charge 2nd.—Violation 6th Article of War.

Charge 3rd.—Disobedience of orders.

ADDITIONAL CHARGE.

Charge 1st.—Conduct to the prejudice of good order, and military discipline.

FINDING.

The Court, after due deliberation, find the accused, Private HADLEY, as follows:

Charge 1st.—Guilty.

Charge 3rd.—Guilty

Charge 2nd.—Guilty.

Charge 4th.—Guilty.

The Court, in consideration of his former good conduct as a soldier, do sentence him to a public reprimand by the Commanding Officer.

The proceedings and sentences in the foregoing cases are approved, and the sentences will be carried into effect.

The Court martial, of which Col R. P. NEELY is President, is hereby dissolved.

GENERAL ORDERS }
No. 11. }

I. Immediately after the receipt of this order, and on the last day of each month, Commanding Officers of Divisions, Posts and separate Camps, will furnish this office with returns of the strength of their commands, ^{and} with the names of all Commissioned officers belonging thereto.

II. In like manner the Senior Quartermaster, Commissary and Medical Officer attached to each Division, Post and separate Camp, will furnish monthly returns of all property, and of all persons employed in their departments to the Chiefs of their respective departments at Memphis, Tenn. The Surgeons of Regiments will also make monthly returns of the sick and wounded, embracing also the numerical strength of the Command and the number of Surgeons and Assistant Surgeons on duty with the Regiments, to the Medical Director at Memphis, Tenn.

III. When the sick are sent to the General Hospital, their descriptive and pay rolls should be sent with them, to the Surgeon in charge of the Hospital. The sick are not to be moved to the General Hospital unless in the opinion of the attending Surgeon, they are able to bear the fatigue of the journey; and, whenever practicable, a medical officer should accompany the sick to the General Hospital at Memphis, Tennessee.
